A Message from the Pastor

Every January, the President of the United States delivers the "State of the Union" address.

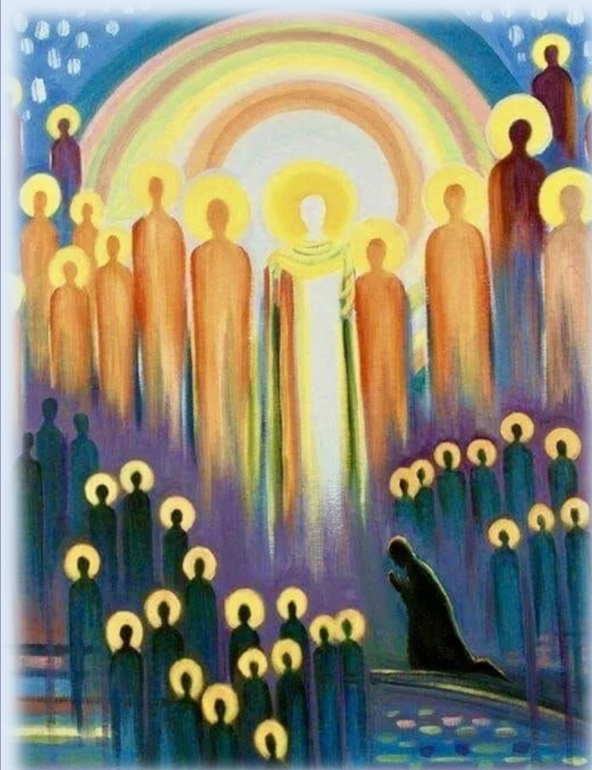

Generally, a sitting president outlines his hopes and goals for the coming year in this address. The Beatitudes can be viewed as Jesus' "State of the Union" address.

In Matthew's gospel, it is the first of five discourses that Jesus will make. This prelude to The Sermon on the Mount needs to be read along with the Parable of the Last Judgment in the 25th chapter of Matthew's gospel. Both passages talk about the foundations of our Christian faith and way of life.

Use this weekend and this gospel as an occasion to reflect on your blessings because that is what Beatitude means—blessing. What would you list as blessings in your life right now? Would you list "good health"? Would you list your family? Would you list opportunities to work and serve others? Would you list hopes or dreams? What exactly would you list as your blessings today, this weekend, at this moment in your life? The Psalmist reminds us: "This is the day the Lord has made, let us rejoice and be glad in it." (Psalm 118:24)

From 1985-1996, I was teaching at Santa Clara University. I met weekly with a group of students who struggled over an academic quarter to find the connection between the reality of the scriptures and the reality of their lives as students. The scripture passage we were working with was the Beatitudes from Matthew's gospel. Listen to the beatitudes that particular group of students uncovered.

"Blessed are those who respect others for they shall be respected." "Blessed are those who can't deny their sadness for they will experience comfort and understanding." "Blessed are those who struggle to do what is right for they shall make a difference." "Blessed are those who learn how to forgive for they shall experience forgiveness." "Blessed are those who have the courage to try, yet fail, for they shall be called human." "Blessed are those who look for the good in all things for they shall discover how God is with us." "Blessed are those who listen with open minds and hearts for they shall come to know the truth." "Blessed are those who vote for they shall be called citizens."

St. Ignatius of Loyola, in the First Principle and Foundation of his Spiritual Exercises, reminds us about our "end" or "goal in life." Those of us old enough to remember the Baltimore Catechism can recite this by heart. "We were made to know, love and serve God in this life so as to be happy with him forever in the next." Our goal is Beatitude or happiness. The Beatitudes challenge us to find God in everything. The Beatitudes help us make room in our busy and cluttered lives for God.

Don't leave the gospel in church this weekend. Take it home with you. If the occasion arises, talk about blessings with your family and friends. Remind yourself that our goal is blessing and happiness and that God is mysteriously encountered in all of life's ups and downs, challenges and rewards. Rekindle in your mind and heart that we are a Beatitude people. Believe it. Live it. Share it.

We will host our in-person Open House after Mass this Sunday, January 29th from 11:30 AM- 1:00 PM. Families interested in sending their children to our school for the 2023-2024 school year will be able to take a tour of our school and meet the staff.

We will celebrate national Catholic Schools Week this week! St. Ignatius Parish School has been educating students for 115 years! Our enrollment is on the rise at 224 students in preschool through 8th grade. Nationally, enrollment in Catholic schools is on the rise. As people seek a high quality, faith-based education with an emphasis on educating the whole child and service learning for their students, we expect to continue to see an increase in enrollment. At St. Ignatius Parish School, we build a deep sense of community across the whole school through family group activities, whole school Masses and celebrations of achievement in our schoolwide learning expectations of developing eager minds, passionate hearts, enthusiastic spirits, and brilliant futures.

We began a lunch program serving healthy lunches two days a week on Tuesdays and Wednesdays this week. Students were excited to participate in this new option for lunch.

Visit us today!

Our students are continually expanding their eager minds! In preschool the students are exploring the world through painting on real canvas and playing in an arctic themed sensory table for imaginary play. The kindergarten students have been practicing subtraction by feeding their tissue box 'monsters' using math counters to understand how many are left when subtracting. Our first graders are growing in their sentence writing skills and painting beautiful snowmen. The second graders are beginning to count money and working on photo collages of what they love about their school. The third graders finished writing their fables and worked on rounding to the tens and hundreds places. The fourth graders are studying about landslides in science and created geometric art pieces. In fifth grade, the students are beginning to learn about the solar system in science and identifying facts and opinions. The sixth graders have written paragraphs about the ancient Mayan culture this week. The seventh graders are creating beautifully artistic character postcards for their literature circle books. In eighth grade, the students finished studying about the states of matter in kinetic theory in science. The learning opportunities are bountiful.
